“If they were all written...”

John 21:25 (NLT)

In John 21:25 John wrote, “There are many other things Jesus did. If every one of them were written down, I suppose the whole world would not be big enough for all the books that would be written” (21:25).

John was an eye-witness of the miracles Jesus performed while on earth. John saw first-hand the healing of those who were sick, lame, blind, cripple, and mute. He saw the love and compassion Jesus had for those who were lost, sad, lonely, and heart-broken. He was able to see the grace, mercy, and forgiveness as he people came to him confessing their sins, falling at his feet in repentance. John was privileged enough to be invited to dine with Jesus, hear the sermon on the mount, the transfiguration, and be part of the last supper with Jesus. Yes, John saw so many things that Jesus did, that not only could they not all be written down, but would leave you without the words to describe just how wonderful our Savior was when he “dwelt among us” (John 1:14).

As imitators of Jesus, what would people write about us? Or better yet, how much could they write about us? If the world isn't big enough for the all of the books containing the miracles of Jesus “if they were all written”, how big would the book be if someone were to write down the things we've said and have done? 500 pages? 200 pages? Could someone even get 1?

Like John was an eye-witness to the life of Christ, people are watching us. We are blessed enough to have at least one book full of wonderful stories about Jesus because they were written. So how much of our lives could be put to paper if someone were to write a book about us?
