I Will Show You How

Mark 1:17

Jesus calls us to follow Him. We read in Mark 1:17 that he called Peter and Andrew to follow Him and that part of the calling was to “fish for people.” As Peter and Andrew were called to fish for people, we too are called to do the same, which carries an evangelistic purpose and tone.

Now, I’ve sat in evangelism classes and have heard countless sermons and lessons on evangelism as most of us have. And from these lessons, we have structured plans and strategies so that we can effectively “fish for people”, bringing them to know Jesus. We’ve handed out food, done service projects, gone on mission trips, knocked doors, handed out tracks and fliers, all in the name of evangelism and outreach. Now some of these things have worked, still work, but some have failed.

But I feel like there is a tension or an uneasiness when it comes to evangelism. Maybe there is even a pressure we feel when are reaching out as we hope that what we are doing is going to work and/or we are maximizing our efforts, resources, and people as we “fish for people.”

Yet in all of this tension, pressure, uneasiness we fail to realize that while Jesus is calling us to fish for people, he is going to be the One who shows us how to do it. Perhaps, instead of talking about our strategies for evangelism, we need to look at Jesus’.

Jesus is a different Rabbi, with a different teaching, and a different purpose. And he calls us ordinary people to do extraordinary things in His name. But before go into the next meeting to strategize our next plan for reaching out, perhaps we ought to sit at the feet of Jesus, who will show us how to fish for people.
